EXTENSION TO TIME FOR PAYING TAXES

Five Per Cent Reduction Still in Effect on Borough Taxes

BIG CHANGE NEXT YEAR

New and Better System Will be in Vogue by Reason of the New School Code

With a 30 days' extension of the time during which borough taxes may be paid with 5 per cent deduction Tax Collector J. W. Mathias is having a busy time receiving taxes. September was the busiest month he has had since in office, Mr. Mathias stated this morning and the 30 days' extension on borough taxes at a reduction, promises to make October also a very busy month. School taxes were paid at face during September and 5 per cent was added at the beginning of October. This addition will remain on all school taxes, according to the new school code, but will not be increased.

During September Tax Collector Mathias estimates that he took in a total amount of $60,000 or $62,000 in taxes. This was rather exceptional, and may be accounted for partly by the change of system in collections. A bigger change will be made next year which will better systematize matters. The tax collectors will have it hard this fall and winter, but with July next year the work will ease up a trifle.

The 30 day's extension of time at which borough taxes may be paid with the 5 per cent reduction is in effect this year only. After November 1, and until February 1, borough taxes may be paid at face and thereafter a certain per cent will be added. There is no leeway in school taxes. They must be paid during a given time at face, or 5 per cent added; there is no reduction.

Next year the borough taxes will be received July 1 and for 90 days thereafter at a reduction of 5 per cent. There will be no extension of time. The school taxes will be paid at face for a similar period and then the addition of 5 per cent will be declared. All this change is made by the new law which is now going into effect.

Hurt in Runaway.

E. J. Guiler, superintendent of the Belle Vernon Water Works, met with quite a serious accident in a runaway Saturday. He was driving along the road between Belle Vernon and Monessen, when his horse became frightened and began to kick and run. Mr. Guiler was thrown out of the vehicle and badly bruised.

LOCAL MINISTER IN ATTENDANCE AT CONFERANCE

Rev F. A. Richards, pastor of the First M. E. church of Charleroi, is attending the annual session of the Pittsburg conference, which is being held in Wilkinsburg. The conference opened Tuesday night with a feature in the South Avenue M. E church, followed by a banquet to the visitors. The real work of the conference began today.

Installing New Motors

Electricity to Supplant Gas as Motive Power at 9th Street School

Three motors are now being installed at the Ninth Street School building by the Charleroi Foundry and Machine Company for use in running the fans. The old gas engine which has been there since the school was built will be done away with as well as the heavy shafting and machinery which was necessary when the engine was used and which it is supposed were responsible for the injuries causing the death of Frank Hough, late janitor. The motors will have a floor foundation. They will do away with the chug-chugging so noticeable when the engine was used.

DEAL IS FINALLY CLOSED

H. C. Frick Company in Possession of New Coal Lands

HOW PAYMENT IS MADE

The deal by which the Pittsburg Coal company and affiliated concern, the Monongahela River Consolidated Coal and Coke company, transfers $17,8000,000 worth of valuable coal land to the H. C. Frick Coke company, subsidiary to the United States Steel corporation, has just been finally closed. Payment is to be made in 5 per cent bonds secured by a mortgage on the property transferred and guaranteed as to principal and interest by the United States Steel corporation. The Pittsburg Coal company transferred about 7,000 acres of its property known as the Colonial coking tract, together with coke ovens, and extensive equipment, at a price of $1,450 per acre. The Monongahela company transferred about 9,000 acres of virgin or unbroken tracts of coal rights at $850 per acre. The Pittsburg Coal company receives $10,150,000 and the Monongahela company $7,650,000.

Included in the property transferred is a large portion of the coal possessed by both the Pittsburg Coal and the River combine, along the Monongahela valley and where surveys have been recently made by the H. C. Frick engineers.

WESTMORELAND NOW ALL SHOT TO PIECES

Lack of Leadership in Political Ranks Brings Chaos to Neighboring County Where Hot Fight Raged at Primaries

Westmoreland county, while not having any well defined factions and "antis" in the Republican ranks is nevertheless shot to pieces in a political way, so far as any leadership is concerned. In the recent primaries the hottest fight hinged on commissioner, where John E. Shields, the present sheriff was a candidate. Shields has been having all sorts of trouble officially and otherwise, and has just been convicted in the county courts of misdemeanor in office. He is also charged with having collected over $60,000 in cash from the coal companies during the Irwin strike for the use of deputies, which he is alleged to have kept personally. instead of turning it over to the county.

With these charges and indictments hanging over him, Shields announced for the nomination for county commissioner, and won out by a substantial plurality. It is said that with a court sentence hanging over him he cannot accept the office, but that is a matter that will have to be determined later. W. D. Reamer, a brother of Burgess Reamer of Monessen is the other successful Republican candidate for commissioner.

Another surprice was the nomination of J. Berkey Boyd for county treasurer. Boyd was the local option member of the Legislature from Westmoreland, and as a matter of course had the opposition of the entire liquor forces, but nevertheless won out in the Republican nominotion for treasurer, defeating Jesse Hancock, a banker of Monessen and other strong candidates.

MASONS TO CELEBRATE IN HONOR OF FOUNDING OF GRAND LODGE

Charleroi and Monessen Members Join in Commemorating Organization 125 Years Ago of State Lodge

1ST ANNIVERSARY OBSERVANCE IN PHILADELPHIA

Under the auspices of Charleroi Lodge, No. 615 and Monesseu Lodge No. 638, Free and Accepted Masons of Pennsylvania, a celebration will be held Thursday evening in the local Masonic rooms of the 125th anniversary of the grand lodge of Pennsylvania. On September 25, the grand lodge held a celebration at Philadelphia and Thomas R. Eagye was the representative of the Charler i Lodge.

Committees from the Charleroi and Monessen lodges have prepared a program, which will precede a social session. Two addresses will be made one by William M. Hamilton, D. D. G. M. of Pittsburg, and one by George W. Montgomery of Verona Lodge, No. 548. The Masonic quartet composed of J[illegible] K. Boyd, Eli H. Wolf, Calvin [illegible]ck, and George R. Helmbold[illegible] render musical selections.

The reception committee consists of T. L. Daly, John H. Bowers, T. R. Eagye, A. N.Jenkins, Frank H. Steen, Frank J. John, Cary Piper, John F. Laird, John D. Berryman, Will M. Gault, Frank Bly, Charles H. Steel and Frank Arrison. Charles S. McKean, Worshipful Master of the Charleroi lodge will have general charge of the program.

WILL SEEK TO HAVE 100 MEN IN PARADE

Charleroi Society Makes Preparations for Monster Demonstration to be Held in Pittsburg Next Monday

An effort is being made to have 100 men go from Charleroi to Pittsburg on Sunday to participate in the big parade to be held by the Holy Name Society, and a meeting will be held at St. Jerome's church Sunday evening at 7:30 o'clock to rally the forces. The parade will be one of the biggest events in churchdom among the Catholics of the Pittsburg diocese during the year. It will precede the benediction of the Blessed Sacrament at the cathedral at Fifth avenue and Craig street by Bishop Canevin.

Affiliated with St. Jerome's Catholic church is a Holy Name society but the membership is not 100. It is hoped however that by Sunday there will be 100 men ready to go to take part in the parade.

It is expected that fully 50,000 men will take part in the parade at Pittsburg. The line will form at the Point and move at about 3 o'clock in the afternoon. Marching to the cathedral the devout procession will hear the benediction of the Blessed Sacrament. The service will be impressive and the different choirs together with the entire congregation will sing at the time of the benediction, "Come Our Holy God."

MONESSEN CHURCH TO BURN MORTAGE AND CELEBRATE

Under the auspices of the Men's Bible class, an entertainment will be held at the First Presbyterian church at Monessen Friday night, when the mortgage covering the indebtedness of the church will be burned, the debt having been liquidated. A spelling bee between the men and the women of the congregation will be one of the forms of entertainment.

Class Received.

At a special service at St. Jerome's Catholic church Sunday afternoon at 3 a'clock a class of 125 young people were received into the Sodality of the Blessed Virgin. Rev. Patrick E. Maher, pastor at Roscoe, preached the sermon and had charge of the services.

WILL ASK BIGELOW TO INSPECT ROADS IN WESTMORELAND

Andrew Budd, one of the supervisors of Rostraver township has written State Highway Commissioner E. M. Bigelow regarding the improvement of the river road from Webster through Monessen to Belle Vernon.

Operation Today.

An operation will be performed today on Fred W. Cooper of Sixth street at the West Penn Hospital where he was taken Sunday evening.

CROW FACTION SHOWS UP COOPER FOLLOWERS

Lewis Will Run Again

Ex President of Mine Workers to Oppose President J hn P. White

A newspaper dispatch from Bridgeport, Ohio, states that T. L. Lewis, who was last year defeated for reelection as president of the United Mine Workers of America by J. P. White of Iowa, will be a candidate against White in the coming election of national officers.

Official notice to that effect is given in a letter containing the signature of Lewis, which has been sent to all the local unions on the stationery of Wheeling Creek Local, of which Lewis has been a member for 22 years.

NEW ROOM AND NEW TEACHER

High School Now Getting Its First Real Start of Term

ENROLLMENT IS LARGE

With a new room and an average number of about 32 pupils to each of the four rooms now used, High School for the first time since the beginning of the present school term is moving along well. On Monday a new room was added to the three already used and about a fourth of the entire enrollment transferred to it.

High School got its second wind and now there is smooth sailing ahead apparently with plenty of opportunity for good work to be done.

Crowded and congested until it was almost necessary to have recourse to soap boxes as seats High School has been worrying along and doing excellent work thus far this term. The daily attendance averages 125, which is above that of any previous year by about 45 or 50. Recently the school board elected a new teacher in the person of Miss Lois Haler and she has charge of the new room, which was formerly known as No. 10 in the Fifth street building. Miss Haler is from McKeesport and is a graduate of the Houcher College at Baltimore.

The High School teaching force now presents the following array: Principal, Prof W. A. Swick, Allegheny College; teachers, Miss Mary Walters, Allegheny College; Paul T. Landis, University of Michigan and Miss Haler of Goucher College.

Misses Esther and Zolo Moss were visitors over Sunday with Miss HiLa Cupp of McKean avenue.

Much Significance to Political Scrap in Fayette County

COOPER WANTS OLD JOB

Would Like to Again be Congressman--Just One Break in the Crow Slate

Like Washington, Fayette county engaged in a factional fight in the Republican ranks for the control of the nominations for county offices. The respective leaders under whose banners the contending forces rallied were former Congressman Cooper and State Senator Crow, each side of which had a full slate of candidates for the nominatons. The result was an utter route for the Cooper forces, the Crow slate of candidates winning, with the exception of Richard Davis, clerk of courts, who won out on his personal popularity.

The successful Republican candidates are: Sheriff, M. A. Kiefer; protonotary, Wm. McClelland; district attorney, S. Ray Shelby; register of wills, C. O. Schroyer; recorder of deeds, Geo. C. Steele; county controller, Harry Kissinger; clerk of courts, Rchard Davis; county commissioners, J. S. Langley and C. H. Nutt; county coroner, Harry J. Bell; poor directors, W. P. Jackson and J. J. Barnhart.

The result of this election is thought to be a death blow to former Congressman Cooper's ambition to return to Congress. At the expiration of his last term in Congress Mr. Cooper announced that he would not be a candidate for re-election. This action, it is said, was due more to the exigencies of the situation than from a desire to withdraw from public life. Owing to the clamor of Green and Somerset, the other counties in the district for a turn in the Congressional representation. Mr. Cooper thought it best to withdraw instead of risking a fight for the nomination that was shaping up against him, particularly at a time when the spirit of political insurgency was dominant. He was not a candidate for renomination and Col. Tom Crago of Waynesburg was chosen.

Now, it is said, Mr. Cooper would like to go to Congress again, and for that reason sought to control the Fayette county Republican organization. The Crow forces were strong for him, and there is to be a Fayette county Congressional representative in the near future, it will in all likelihood be Senator Crow, who is now the undispted leader in Fayette county Republican politics.

STRIKING CENSUS FIGURES.

The just available census figures of 1910 are most significant in the sense of showing how great has become the population of the district of which Pittsburg is the natural and industrial center. This first compilation of these figures shows that in 26 counties of Westen Pennsylvania, 17 of Eastern Ohio, 10 of West Virginia and two of Maryland, all within 100 to 150 miles of Pittsburg, the total population numbers 4,336,388, distributed in the four states as follows: Pennsylvania, 26 counties, 3,048,010; West Virginia, 10 counties, 261,607; Ohio, 17 counties, 944,255; Maryland, two counties, 82,516.

Pittsburg is one of the heaviest centers of population in the United States, ranking equal with New York, Philadelphia and Chicago. It takes an enormous amount of farm produce to feed the people who live in Pittsburg, and in the many other cities and towns of the territory—a great deal more than is raised in the region itself, where it all ought to be raised—and one of the objects of the Pittsburg Land Show is to demonstrate through a powerful two-weeks object lesson, the great profit sure to accrue to tillers of the soil in the Pittsburg district by raising enough produce to feed the more than four million inhabitants, instead of forcing them to bring so much of their foodstuff from the west. This great Land Show will be held in the Duquesne Garden from October 12th to 26th, and whether viewed merely as a spectacle or as an instructive exhibition it will be well worth the time and money of anyone living within 50 miles of the city.

CO-OPERATION.

A newspaper dispatch states that co-operative clubs having for their object the buying of vegetables and provisions in carload lots at rock-bottom prices, from the producers, are being formed in various parts of Allegheny county. The idea is to buy potatoes and other products direct from the farmer, thereby saving the family man from paying the profits which go to three or four persons before he finally gets his fruit and vegetables.

In such suburbs as Belleville, Carnegie, Beechview, Avalon and elsewhere neighborhood clubs are being organized for the purpose of buying potatoes at a big saving in cost. For instance, it was learned that potatoes by the carload were being delivered in Pittsburg recently from the shipper at the rate of 75 to 80 cents a bushel, feight prepaid.

The jobber and wholesaler are charging the retail dealers from 90 cents to $1 a bushel, while the retailer, to get his profit, must charge from $1.20 to $1.25 a bushel; and if he sells in small quantities, from 30 to 40 cents a peck, thereby exacting from $1.20 to $1.60 a bushel according to the quality.

Another big saving is to buy food stuffs in bulk and not in packages. The latter are invariably short in weight, and the consumer has not only to pay for the material in the package, but also for the cost of making, packing and a profit on all the labor and material. The woman who bakes her own bread saves the baker's wages, together with the rent, interest on investment, and overhead charges of the proprietor of the bakery.

PICKED UP IN PASSING

"The only time I ever saw Admiral Schley," said a valley newspaper man, when the sudden death of the great sea fighter was under discussion, "was shortly after the Spanish-American war. I was doing newspaper work then in Pittsburg on the Post, and word came that Admiral Schley was to pass through the city on the B. & O. railroad, enroute from Washington to Chicago. I was detailed by the Post to 'cover' the story and went up to McKeesport where the train was to make a brief stop, and returned on it to Pittsburg.

"As McKeesport had furnished from the Firth-Sterling works the projectiles with which Schley had smashed the Spanish fleet, that city thought they had a special tribute to pay to the great Admiral. So when the train drew into the station there was an immense throng and a brass band playing, 'See, the Conquering Hero Comes.' Admiral Schley, of course made his appearance on the platform of the Pullman car, and expressed his appreciation of the compliment paid him in a few well chosen words. A funny incident in connection with the brief reception was that as soon as the train stopped and the Admiral stepped out onto the platform, a man hopped up the steps of the car from the crowd, and clinging to the railing, extended his arm saying:

"'Have a toby, Admiral!'

"'Thanks,' said the Admiral, and taking the 'smoke' he looked it over with the air of a connoisseur, and then carefully placed it in his upper vest pocket where some more 'smokes' reposed, proceeded to make his little talk.

"What struck me was that the great naval hero apparently appreciated a common every day 'smoke' as much as the one who had presented it.

Rev. Axmacher, assistant to Rev. W. D. Fries, pastor of St. Jerome's Catholic church, tells a funny story in connection with the celebration held at Pittsburg last year by the Holy Name society. A feature of the celebration was a monster parade. A non-Catholic watched the immense assemblage of men as they marched past a certain point, then turning to an Irish policeman, a Catholic, asked:

"Welch, where did all those Catholic men come from?"

"Come from? For the love of Moike; them's just the ones that don't swear. Ye ought to see the other crowd."

USEFUL ABOUT THE HOUSE

Ammonia Cleans Clothing and Paint and Is Good for Numerous Other Purposes.

In housekeeping ammonia has many uses. It is an efficient help about the wardrobe. Black material, sponged with a cupful of water in which a teaspoonful of ammonia has been mixed, will renew its freshness, while black silk will lose its objectionable shininess by such a sponging. A little ammonia will remove grease from collars, and when rubbed over corsets will cleanse them to a nicety. When mixed with equal parts of turpentine, ammonia will remove paint stains from cloth. If the paint is stubborn it may require several applications before the work is done. Persevere. Nothing is so good for boys' tweed suits as to sponge them with the ammonia mixture. For toilet use, a small quantity will soften the water in which the hair is washed and aid in cleansing the scalp. It renders the bath delightful, and carpets, when thoroughly gone over with ammonia and water, are surprisingly restored to something like their original freshness. When mixed with white wax and turpentine it makes the best of polishes for the floor. To relieve the pain and prevent inflammation resulting from the bites and stings of summer insects ammonia ranks first as a cure.

STEEL SPECKS IN THE FLOUR

Man of Science Announces Gravely That This Is One of the Causes of Appendicitis.

Dr. Edred M. Conner of London, alleges that appendicitis is due to white flour. Steel from the mill rollers gets into the flour. We eat this minute steel and as it goes round the bend it shunts off on the blind siding. In time it stacks up like a culm heap and irritation ensues.

A good part of the steel is absorbed, to be sure. That explains why it is not found in any of the cases operated on. But the point is, no doubt, that more than the 10-penny nail of iron allowed to each mortal is taken in and the body's magnetic equilibrium is thereby upset. The man who invented graham bread died of indigestion, but if he had drawn a magnet through it before baking he would have removed the steel particles and might have lived forever.

The wise cook today will buy a small magnet and thoroughly stir her flour with it before putting in the water and yeast. Let her wipe off the magnet every little while. The black specks that adhere are tiny bits of steel. Bread made in this way may be eaten without fear of appendicitis.

A Musical Prodigy.

In 1841 arrived in London a Russian boy, called Antoine Rubinstein not twelve years old, whose performances on the piano had excited wonder and delight among the musical amateurs. He was equally skilled in the ancient as well as modern style of playing and gave with wonderful effect the most difficult passages of Bach or Thalburg. All this, too, was done with the utmost apparent ease, and in the most difficult passages he frequently indulged himself in grotesque imitations of the peculiar trickeries of the composer upon whose music he was engaged.—The Russian Boy

Had Laugh on the Dog.

An Irishman went into a butcher shop and bought a pound of soup meat. He then asked the butcher to write out a recipe, explaining how to cook it and the butcher did so. Ye haven't got the recipe to cook it!"

DEMURRER IS FILED BY BAUM

County Solicitor States Why Fine Should Not be Returned

CASE AGAINST DRUGGIST

Isaac W. Baum, Esq., county solicitor, has filed a demurrer in court in the case of E. G. Dudley against Washington county. Dudley has entered suit to recover a fine paid by him to the county on a charge of selling liquor without a license.

Solicitor Baum says that the statement filed in the above case is not sufficient in law to maintain the plaintiff's action. That his pardon was not intended to absolve Dudley from the payement of the fine and costs imposed on him by the court, and that the pardon did not have the effect of discharging the defendant from the payment of the fine and that the pardon was granted after the fine was paid into the county treasury.

Attorneys are watching the outcome of this case with interest and a number of them think that the county will have to return Dudley's fine, but that he will not be able to collect whatever costs were placed on him. They claim that the pardon of the governor wipes out the fine, but holds the costs. It is said to be the first case of the kind in this county.

SUFFERERS AIDED BY THE STATE

State authorities are continuing energetic steps for the relief of the suffering people and the cleaning up operations at Austin. Three more engineers were sent from the State Department of Health and Highway Commissioner E. M. Bigelow dispatched Chief Engineer Samuel D. Foster to assist in what operations may be needed. WHAT THE GUEST SHOULD BE

Cheerful, Adaptable Man or Woman Will Leave Happy Memory Behind on Leaving.

With the advent of summer comes the beginning of the period when the distinction and the pleasure of being a guest comes to a great many men and women. With the ready assimilation of the American people we have taken that exotic phrase, the week-end, to our common usage. And whether we are invited to go sailing in a hundred-dollar catboat, roughing it literally in a shanty called a bungalow, or enjoying the luxuries of a rich friend's country estate, we are all week-ending with the same catholicity of spirit that we show in the national habit of carrying suit cases. Hospitality has two faces—those of the host and the guest. And the most difficult one to present with an attractive mien is that of the latter estate. Cheerfulness is the most desirable characteristic of the ideal guest and second to this comes a readiness of spirit to enter any plan for the day or the night's pleasure. The adaptable man or woman is the one dearest to a host's heart; and you may pluck the reward of your entertainer's gratitude by your readiness to wash dishes as by your tolerance of a dub player at tennis or bridge in more luxurious surroundings. We all of us pay our way through the world through other mediums than that of the currency of the realm. None does this more certainly than the guest who leaves a happy memory behind him.—Philadelphia Press.

COURSE ONE OF BEST FURNISHED BY ANY BOROUGH

Members of the executive committee and several guarantors of the Citizen's Entertainment Course have begun the work of selling tickets for the course this year and are meeting with fair success. Inasmuch as the course is the highest class engaged for Charleroi and one of the best furnished by any entertainment bureau, it is expected that the tickets will go rapidly. The members of the course committee congratulate themselves upon securing such an array of talent for this year. The entertainments are of the kind that one has to go far usually to see and hear. Reservation of seats will begin Friday evening, October 13, at 7: 30 o'clock at Piper's Pharmacy. The first entertainment will follow a week or so later.

HE WAS A DANGEROUS RISK

In These Rushing Days the Pedestrian Has No Show at All With Insurance Company.

Here was a case where it seemed as if everything was settled. The insurance company's doctor had reported that the man seemed to be all right, and the man himself had certified that he was not engaged in any dangerous occupation.

"I lead a sedentary life," he told them "I work in an office and we have no danger or excitement."

"How about sports?" the examiner asked. "Do you football? Baseball? Do you box? Do you belong to an athletic club?"

"No—none of that stuff. I guess I'm a safe risk."

"Do you scorch?"

"What do you mean?"

"Do you drive your car faster than the speed limit?"

"I have no car."

"What? How do you get about?"

"I walk."

"Risk refused. A scorcher is a dangerous risk, but a pedestrian has no chance at all. Buy a car, old chap. Sorry—good night!"

The Brighter Side.

It was a beautiful barometer. It glistened from its splendid wooden case with a spick-and-spanness that boasted of its newness. Its rich framework clearly advertised the large price that had been paid for it. Its owner was justly proud.

But it possessed one drawback—it wouldn't work. Ever since it had been purchased it had remained at "Set Fair" whatever the weather had happened to be. And the weather had happened to be particularly wet.

At last its owner grew weary of its external beauty, and exasperated over its internal stupidity. One day, when the rain was pouring extra hard, he tore the weather indicator from the wall, and took it out into the road.

"Now, then," he cried, shaking it angrily, "can't you see it's raining?"

For a moment the needle hesitated. Then, as the raindrops began to dim the glass, it made up its mind and moved slowly round to "Very Dry."

Bismarck and Coffee.

Among the coffee drinkers a high place must be given to Bismarck, says the London Chronicle. He liked coffee unadulterated. While with the Prussian army in France he one day entered a country inn and asked the host if he had any chiccory in the house. He had, Bismarck said. "Well, bring it to me, all you have." The man obeyed and handed Bismarck a canister full of chiccory. "Are you sure this is all you have demanded the chancellor. "Yes, my lord, every grain." "Then," said Bismarck, keeping the canister by him, "go now and make me a pot of coffee."

Protection of Records.

In every city of magnitude there are all kinds of valuable records exposed to destruction by fire. The most practical people in the world are strangely remiss in this matter of protection of records that cannot be duplicated or replaced when once lost.—Buffalo News.

How We Live.

The only right is that which allows man's individuality to expand, and the only wrong is that which contracts it—we live in the measure that we voice ourselves, and we but linger when self-expression atrophies and dies

Still the Open Kettle.

One very seldom sees a washing machine in use in the south, says Frank P. Fogg in the National Magazine. The old-fashioned way of washing in the open air at the side of a brook or at the well and boiling the clothes in an iron kettle over a smoking open fire is still in vogue.

Proposed amendments to the Constitution submitted to the citizens of this Commonwealth for their approval or rejection, by the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, and published by order of the Secretary of the Commonwealth, in pursuance of Article XVIII of the Constitution.

Number One.

A JOINT RESOLUTION

Proposing an amendment to the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, so as to consolidate the courts of common pleas of Allegheny County.

Section 1. Be it resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met, That the following amendment to the Constitution of Pennsylvania be, and the same is hereby, proposed, in accordance with the eighteenth article thereof:—

That section six of article five be amended, by striking out the said section, and inserting in place thereof the following:

Section 6. In the county of Philadelphia all the jurisdiction and powers now vested in the district courts and courts of common pleas, subject to such changes as may be made by this Constitution or by law, shall be in Philadelphia vested in five distinct and separate courts of equal and co-ordinate jurisdiction, composed of three judges each. The said courts in Philadelphia shall be designated respectively as the court of common pleas number one, number two, number three, number four, and number five, but the number of said courts may be by law increased, from time to time, and shall be in like manner designated by successive numbers. The number of judges in any of said courts, or in any county where the establishment of an additional court may be authorized by law, may be increased, from time to time, and whenever such increase shall amount in the whole to three, such three judges shall compose a distinct and separate court as aforesaid, which shall be numbered as aforesaid. In Philadelphia all suits shall be instituted in the said courts of common pleas without designating the number of the said court, and the several courts shall distribute and apportion the business among them in such manner as shall be provided by rules of court, and each court, to which any suit shall be thus assigned, shall have exclusive jurisdiction thereof, subject to change of venue, as shall be provided by law.

In the county of Allegheny all the jurisdiction and powers now vested in the several numbered courts of common pleas shall be vested in one court of common pleas composed of all the judges in commission in said courts. Such jurisdiction and powers shall extend to all proceedings at law and in equity which shall have been instituted in the several numbered courts, and shall be subject to such changes as may be made by law, and subject to change of venue as provided by law. The president judge of said court shall be selected as provided by law. The number of judges in said court may be by law increased from time to time. This amendment shall take effect on the first day of January succeeding its adoption.

Number Two.

A JOINT RESOLUTION

Proposing an amendment to section eight, article nine, of the Constitution of Pennsylvania.

Section 1. Be it resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met, That the following is proposed as an amendment to the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, in accordance with the provisions of the eighteenth article thereof:—

Amendment to Article Nine, Section Eight

Section 1. Amend section eight, article nine, of the Constitution of Pennsylvania, which reads as follows:—

"Section 8. The debt of any county, city, borough, township, school district, or other municipality or incorporated district, except as herein provided, shall never exceed seven per centum upon the assessed value of the taxable property therein, nor shall any such municipality or district incur any new debt, or increase its indebtedness to an amount exceeding two per centum upon such assessed valuation of property, without the assent of the electors thereof at a public election in such manner as shall be provided by law, but any city, the debt of which now exceeds seven per centum of such assessed valuation, may be authorized by law to increase the same three per centum, in the aggregate, at any one time, upon such valuation," so as to read as follows:—

Section 8. The debt of any county, city, borough, township, school district, or other municipality or incorporated district, except as herein provided, shall never exceed seven per centum upon the assessed value of the taxable property therein, nor shall any such municipality or district incur any new debt, or increase its indebtedness to an amount exceeding two per centum upon such assessed valuation of property, without the assent of the electors thereof at a public election in such manner as shall be provided by law; but any city, the debt of which now exceeds seven per centum of such assessed valuation, may be authorized by law to increase the same three per centum, in the aggregate, at any one time, upon such valuation, except that any debt or debts hereinafter incurred by the city and county of Philadelphia for the construction and development of subways for transit purposes, or for the construction of wharves and docks, or the reclamation of land to be used in the construction of a system of wharves and docks, as public improvements, owned or to be owned by said city and county of Philadelphia, and which shall yield to the city and county of Philadelphia current net revenue in excess of the interest on said debt or debts and of the annual installments necessary for the cancellation of said debt or debts, may be excluded in ascertaining the power of the city and county of Philadelphia to become otherwise indebted: Provided, That a sinking fund for their cancellation shall be established and maintained.

WOMEN NOMINATED ON THE KEYSTONE TICKET

Washington Voters Will Have Opportunity of Voting for Representation of the Weaker Sex

Washington voters have an opportunity to elect two women school directors at the November election. These are Mrs. Anna Murphy and Mrs. Minnie Borchers, whose names will appear on the Keystone ticket. Mrs. Murphy is a candidate for the six year term, while Mrs. Borchers seeks the four year term. Both women were candidates on the Republican and Democratic tickets as well as the Keystone, but failed to win the nomination except on the latter ticket. Their combined vote on all three tickets would be almost enough to nominate them if they receive the same support at the November election. Mrs. Borchers received 433 Republican votes, 113 Democratic and 193 Keystone votes, making a total of 739. Mrs. Murphy's vote was: Republican 327, Democratic 84 and Keystone 154, making a total of 565.

R. W. Mason, one of the successful Republican candidates for the six year term, led the ticket with 603 votes, while Plummer Baker, Esq., was high man on the Republican ticket for the four term with 846 votes. The two women have an even chance to win if they can but hold the vote each received at the primary.

SAVED FOR FURTHER SERVICE

Good Old Teapot, Precious Relic, Could Not Be Allowed to Become Prey of Flames.

The hotel is in flames. Sadly the guests and servants gaze at the roaring pyre. Suddenly they see the proprietor dash madly in at the blazing doorway.

"He has gone to rescue someone!" they gasp.

Tensely they wait his reappearance. One minute. Two minutes. Three.

Has he perished in that crackling furnace?

No! No! See, there he comes, singed and scorched, but safe.

What is that he carries so carefully in his arms? It is the hotel teapot, half-full of nice black tea.

Cheers rewarded the proprietor for his noble act of sentiment.

For twelve years the teapot has stood on the back of the kitchen range, boiling faithfully away For twelve years it has poured out its lifeblood in response to the calls of the transient world for drink, and the tea leaves in its dark old depths will do for many years to come.—Newark News.

The Perpetual Change.

The things of the world are ever rising and falling, and in perpetual change; and this change must be according to the will of God, as he has bestowed upon man neither the wisdom nor the power to enable him to check it. The great lesson in these things is that man must strengthen himself doubly at such times to fulfil his duty, and to do what is right, and must seek his happiness and inward peace from objects which cannot be taken away from him.—Wilhelm von Humboldt.

Wanted the Day to Himself.

Nothing makes us quite so weary as these elaborate, gotten-up-ahead-of-time jokes that some people stage and spring with such a dramatic effect Our Washington correspondent told us of one of these, the other day. A man went into the patent office, last week, and said he wanted a copyright They steered him to the right department, and he opened up like this:

"This is Saturday, is it not? Thank you. I understand that you will not issue a copyright on Sunday?"

"No, sir. That is the rule."

"But you will issue a copyright on any other day of the week?"

"Yes, sir."

"I'm so glad. I want to get Friday copyrighted. It's my birthday, and I don't want any other fellows using it. How much will it cost?"

Too Much Ceremony.

A Cincinnati drummer happened to be put at a table at Columbus with a number of legislators, and the courtly way in which they addressed each other greatly bored the commercial traveler. It was: "Will the gentleman from Hardin do this?" and "the gentleman from Franklin do that?" They invariably spoke to each other as the gentleman from whatever county they happened to hail from.

For 10 or 15 minutes the drummer bore it in silence

Then he suddenly crushed the statesmen by singing out in stentorian tones to the waiter: "Will the gentleman from Ethiopia please pass the butter!"

That ended the "gentleman from" business.—Rehoboth Sunday Herald.

The Five Great Races.

In answer to the question, "What are the five great races of mankind?" a Chinese student replied, said Bishop Montgomery at the anniversary of the Society for the Propagation of the Gospel, reports the London Mail, "the hundred yards, the hurdles, the quarter mile, the mile and the three miles." In another paper a Chinese student said that "Out of sight, out of mind," could be explained in two words, "Invisible, insane."

Blessing English Crops.

The quaint ceremony of blessing the crops was observed the other evening on the Earl of Craven's estate at Binley, in Northeast Warwickshire, says the London Daily Mail. Meeting at the parish church, the vicar and a number of parishioners formed into procession and various well-known farms were visited.

RED HAIR WAS NEW TO THEM

Indians for a Long Time Insisted That White Man's Scalp Must Have Been Painted.

Forty years ago the Indians in Colorado knew but little of the white man, and nothing hardly of his ways or habits except from tradition. Among the people who went to settle in Colorado at that time was a man with very red hair. He and his party were thrown among the Indians, who thought at first that his hair was painted, just as they painted their own bodies and faces.

An old chief came up to him one day and looked at his hair very carefully.

"Ugh!" said he.

And then, turning to the interpreter who had the party in charge, he wanted him to ask the man where he got the kind of paint that would color, and yet not be greasy or look dabby. He was told that the man's hair was not painted, but he would not believe it. He once more walked up to the man and scrutinized his locks, running his hand through them and looking at his fingers.

The red-haired man became a little nervous, and half fancied that the chief was calculating how nice a red scalp would look hung to his belt. The interpreter, however, laughingly told the man what the chief had said.

Two or three more of the Indians then gathered around the party, and they and the interpreter had a powwow. Finally the interpreter asked the man if he would object to putting water on his hair.

He saw the Indians would not believe but that it was painted, until they saw that the water would not wash the color out. The man took some water, rubbed it on his hair, and then showed his hands to them. But it took four or five days of wondering examination to convince them that he had not found some peculiar paint, and got himself up in a bright red suit of hair.

Wasted Effort.

"I want you to subscribe something to the fund we are raising for the purpose of giving Senator Bunk a grand reception when he comes from Washington. How much shall we put you down for?"

"Nothing!"

"Nothing? Why, you must admit that Senator Bunk has made a great record in congress. He has succeeded in making himself one of the leaders of the most, dignified deliberative body on earth."

"Yes, but he's got all the offices at his disposal filled, so what's the use?"—Chicago Record-Herald.

Develop Individuality.

Care should be taken in the large family that each child develops an individuality, says the London Sketch. Sometimes, especially in the case of girls, it is a good idea to send children to different schools. This seems an extreme measure, but is worth the consideration of the parents who find that their brood are dropping into slovenly habits of speech, into codes and rules of their own, and a general contempt and disregard of the rest of the world

Easily Ahead.

An Irishman who was fond of the liquor came home one night all in, the St. Louis Post-Dispatch says. Four or five of his friends carried him out to a graveyard, dug a hole and put him down there to sleep off his jag. When he woke in the morning he climbed out of the hole and looked all around the cemetery. "By gorra," he said. "I'm the first one up, anyway."

Persistent Rooks.

Rooks have built a nest on a telephone pole in a busy thoroughfare in the center of Dover. As soon as the nest assumed any dimensions it fell, or was blown from the pole, and then the birds attached it to the insulators. Telephone employes knocked the nest down but, undaunted, the birds set to work and have built again.

Got by Him.

She signed herself "Your affectionate knob." He didn't catch on till she told him a knob was something to a door.

HAD NEVER BEEN TEMPTED

Delegation of Citizens Looking for County Treasurer Decided Candidate Was Too Honest.

Upon a certain occasion an eminent citizen was approached by a delegation of other eminent citizens, the leader of whom proceeded to say:

"Friend, it must be known to thee that we have had dishonest men in office and the taxpayers have suffered loss thereby?"

"Truly, the facts have come to my ears," was the reply.

"We would further state that we are a delegation looking for a new man to fill the position of county treasurer."

"And in me you will find an honest one."

"That is to say, thee wilt not graft?"

"Not the value of a cent."

"There wilt be much cash to handle."

"But it will be safe with me."

"And there will be constant temptations."

"But I shall withstand them all."

"Hast ever handled public funds?"

"No, but I again assure thee of my honesty"

"Friend," continued the speaker for the delegation, "thou art honest because thou hast never been tempted We are now losing about ten per cent. by graft. Let the office be given to an honest man and he'll either take all or none, and the chances are about even up. We will pass on!"

Moral—The honest man of today is the rascal of tomorrow.

NOT A SUBJECT FOR PITY

Little Boss of the School Made Careful Inquiry and Then Acted Promptly.

A suburban youngster who has long been the boss of his neighborhood has been attending, temporarily, a school connected with an orphanage Very nearly all the pupils are dependents.

The school has a dozen bright red chairs which are greatly fancied by the boys, and there is either a general scramble for them or else the boys who live in the asylum are in them first.

This particular outsider was not to be denied when all the chairs were filled, and with his superior strength and courage would dump one of the occupants before the teacher arrived. Her attention was called to this and the small bully was told that he should have a feeling of pity for the unfortunate.

The next day he found all the chairs filled, one by a new pupil. He went to him and said:

"Have you a home?"

"Yes."

"A good home?"

"Yes."

"Father and mother?"

"Yes."

"Have you always had a father and mother?"

"Yes."

"Well, get out of my chair," and the intruder was hurled against the wall.—Chicago Evening Post.

Physical Limitations.

There was a very stupid play presented early in the New York season, an "adaptation" it was called by the author. Even the best-natured critics went away in disgust. One newspaper representative turned to another and said: "If this jumble had been presented on the other side of the water it would have been hissed. As there were a lot of foreign visitors present I wonder that it was not."

"It really is a wonder," was the other's reply. "I would like to have hissed myself, but—you can't yawn and hiss at the same time."—Metropolitan Magazine.

A Moving Land.

One of the broad slopes of Mont Gringuez, France, is reported to have become detached from its foundations, and to have moved over a distance of nearly a quarter of a mile, carrying with it the soil, meadows and woods, and covering up in its passage roads and bridges that stood in the way. A chestnut grove has traveled 500 feet without suffering any apparent damage, but many small lakes have been formed by the damming of the waters.—Scientific American.

Easing a Cough.

For children who have passed the baby stage, linseed tea is the best thing known to ease a cough. Pour two quarts of boiling water on one ounce of whole linseed and twelve drachms of licorice root sliced. Add to this a slice or two of lemon. Let this stand in a jug covered over for six or seven hours, then strain it and sweeten to taste and it will be ready for use.

His Prospects.

Mrs. Murphy—Oi hear yer brother-in-law, Pat Keegan, is pretty bad off. Mrs Casey—Shure, he's good for a year yit. Mrs Murphy—As long as that? Mrs. Casey—Yis; he's had four different doctors, and each one av him give him three months to live.—Puck

Light on Habits of Snakes.

The popular theories regarding the cobra's musical ear, and the snake's power of fascinating birds, are upset by a statement made the other day by Professor Barnard who has been studying this species of snake in Ceylon. The serpent's traditional love for music is a pure fable, he says. The only effect of music is to arouse the reptile's curiosity which is excited by any loud and acute sound The cobra protrudes its head from its burrow alike on hearing the snake charmer's flute, the rattling of a chain, or the sounds made by beating the ground with a switch. Barnard also concludes that the power of fascination upon birds is purely imaginary.

To Settle Boundary Dispute.

The century-old dispute over the boundary between Persia and Turkey in Asia from Mt. Ararat south to the Persian gulf seems to be at last in a fair way to be settled. At a conference recently held in Constantinople both governments agreed to submit the points in contest to The Hague tribunal and to abide by its decision.

Wonderful Memory.

"There seems something more speakingly incomprehensible in the powers, the failures, the inequalities of memory, than in any other of our intelligences. The memory is sometimes so retentive, so serviceable, so obedient; at others, so bewildered and so weak; and at others again, so tyrannic, so beyond control."—Jane Austen.

How to Be Good.

Tommy is an impulsive little fellow, who doesn't always find it easy to live up to the expectations of his elders. When, one day, his Sunday school teacher asked him to tell the other members of the class the way to be good, Tommy gave this explanation: "Just think of the things you wanter do and don't never do 'em!"

The Doctor's Question

Much Sickness Due to Bowel Disorders

A doctor's first question when consulted by a patient is, "Are your bowels regular?" He knows that ninety-nine per cent of illness is attended with inactive bowers and torpid liver, and that this condition must be removed gently and thoroughly before health can be restored.

Rexall Orderlies are a positive, pleasant and safe remedy for constipation and bowel disorders in general. We are so certain of their great curative value that we promise to return the purchaser's money in every case when they fail to produce entire satisfaction.

Rexall Orderlies are eaten like candy, they act quietly, and have a soothing, strengthening, healing influence on the entire intestinal tract. They do not purge, gripe, cause nausea, flatulence, excessive looseness, diarrhoea or other annoying effects. They are especially good for children, weak persons or old folks. Three sizes, 50c., 25 c and 10c. Sold only at our store—The Rexall Store. Carrolls Drug Store, 625 Fallowfield avenue.

ITALIANS MANIFEST INTEREST

Would be Ready to Fight for Their Country if Needed

GREEKS ARE PREPARED

Italians here are much interested in the progress of the Italian-Turkish war, but they do not feel that it will be necessary for any of them to offer their services to their mother country. But if they are needed there are about 200 of military age ready to tender their services.

There are practically no Turks in Charleroi but there are a lot of Greeks here and at Monessen who might be called upon to protect their country. Greece is along the frontier and would be in the battle zone. The probabilities that some of her property might be seized by the Turks, hence the need of protection. It is possible that the Greeks along the Monongahela valley are more interested in the European war development than either the Italians or Turks. The Italians do not think they have much to fear from Turkey, while the Turks are somewhat unconcerned. In Monessen there is a military company of Greeks, trained and captained after the manner of the Greek military companies.

MANY PLEAS OF GUILT ENTERED BY OFFENDERS

Charleroi Man, Among Others, Appears at Bar of Justice---Ten Years in Penitentiary for Jesse Bice

CHARGED WITH STEALING TWO HORSES

A number of violaters of the law saved the county some money Tuesday, when they entered pleas of guilty in criminal court. Had they insisted on a plea of not guilty they would have gone to trial, taking up the time of the court, the district attorney's office and other county officials.

Ernest Hubert of Charleroi was one of the offenders. He is charged with enticing minor children for immoral purposes, and confessed his guilt. The prosecutor was James W. Beatty. Hubert was directed to pay the costs, fine of $1 and to undergo imprisonment in the workhouse for four months.

Jesse Bice, one of the young men who were recently arested charged with horse stealing was given an indeterminate sentence of from two and one-half years to ten years in the penitentiary. He had been charged with larceny and horse stealing.

Floyd Ross, colored and very young was sent to Huntingdon. He was accused of participating in the crimes with Bice.

Rosa Loumia of Canonsburg selling liquor without license and furnishing liquor on Sunday two counts was sentenced on the first count to pay costs, fine $500 and serve three months in the county jail; on the second count pay costs, fine of $50, and 20 days to jail, both sentences to run concurrently.

Mrs. Loumia pleaded in extenuation that she was a widow, and that passing mill men advised her to sell them beer and charge good prices. This she did, charging 25 cents a bottle. She entered the jail to serve her sentence with an infant in arms, and has three other children in the County Children's Home.

Green Johnson, colored, admitted carying a gun at the emancipation proclamation celebration at McDonald last August. He was sentenced to pay the costs, fine of $1 and to undergo imprisonment in the county jail for 60 days. Samuel Ferry, a white man, also from McDonald, was given the same sentence, he too having had a revolver on his person. He was not at the ox roast with Johnson.

YOUNG COUPLE WED IN BUTLER

Miss Deborah Dagnall, Charleroi Girl Becomes Bride of William Lester

On Tuesday at Butler the wedding of Miss Deborah Dagnall, a popular young woman of Charleroi and William Lester, of Butler, was a social function. The ceremony was performed in the presence only of the immediate family. The bride is the well known daughter of William Dagnall of Charleroi. She has been for sometime a clerk at Berryman's Department store and while there made many friends. The bridegroom is well known and highly respected in his home community. The couple will live at Butler. Friends of Mr. and Mrs. Lester in Charleroi tender them their best wishes for happiness and success in their matrimonial venture.

Gentlemen Take Notice

The other day a man come in the store, and said "Give me another pair of them co-operative shoes, if you haven't got them don't show me anything else, I'd rather have you send for a special pair. I have tried, honest, every shoe sold this town, from the most unknown to the most bragged about, but never did I have as satisfactory a pair as this co-operative I have on my feet, and I-want-another pair".

This is not the first or only token of appreciation of our efforts to please our customer in selling them the best made shoes at the most reasonable prices.

We carry the best made lines in ladies', Men's and children's shoes and sell them reasonable.

We study our business night and day in order to get the best to satisfy our customers with.

EXTENSION TO TIME FOR PAYING TAXES

ive Per Cent Reduction Still in Effect on Borough Taxes

IG CHANGE NEXT YEAR

lew and Better System Will be in Vogue by Reason of the New School Code

With a 30 days' extension of the me during which borough taxes ay be paid with 5 per cent deduction ax Collector J. W. Mathias is havg a busy time receiving taxes. ptember was the busiest month he s had since in office, Mr. Mathias ed this morning and the 30 days' tension on borough taxes at a rection, promises to make October so a very busy month. School xes were paid at face during Sepmber and 5 per cent was added the beginning of October. This adion will remain on all school taxes, cording to the new school code, but ll not be increased.

During September Tax Collector thias estimates that he took in a al amount of $60,000 or $62,000 taxes. This was rather exceptionand may be accounted for partly the change of system in collecns. A bigger change will be de next year which will better tematize matters. The tax collect will have it hard this fall and ter, but with July next year the rk will ease up a trifle.

The 30 day's extension of time at ich borough taxes may be paid h the 5 per cent reduction is in ect this year only. After Novem-1, and until February 1, borough es may be paid at face and thereer a certain per cent will be added. re is no leeway in school taxes. y must be paid during a given e at face, or 5 per cent added; re is no reduction.

Next year the borough taxes will received July 1 and for 90 days reafter at a reduction of 5 per t. There will be no extension of e. The school taxes will be paid face for a similar period and then addition of 5 per cent will be ded. All this change is made by new law which is now going inffect.

The motors will have a floor foundation. They will do away with the chug-chugging so noticeable when the engine was used.

DEAL IS FINALLY CLOSED

H. C. Frick Company in Possession of New Coal Lands

HOW PAYMENT IS MADE

The deal by which the Pittsburg Coal company and affiliated concern, the Monongahela River Consolidated Coal and Coke company, transfers $17,8000,000 worth of valuable coal land to the H. C. Frick Coke company, subsidiary to the United States Steel corporation, has just been finally closed. Payment is to be made in 5 per cent bonds secured by a mortgage on the property transferred and guaranteed as to principal and interest by the United States Steel corporation. The Pittsburg Coal company transferred about 7,000 acres of its property known as the Colonial coking tract, together with coke ovens, and extensive equipment, at a price of $1,450 per acre. The Monongahela company transferred about 9,000 acres of virgin or unbroken tracts of coal rights at $850 per acre. The Pittsburg Coal company receives $10,150,000 and the Monongahela company $7,650,000.

Included in the property transferred is a large portion of the coal possessed by both the Pittsburg Coal and the River combine, along the Monongahela valley and where surveys have been recently made by the H. C. Frick engineers.

WESTMORELAND NOW ALL SHOT TO PIECES

Lack of Leadership in Political Ranks Brings Chaos to Neighboring County Where Hot Fight Raged at Primaries

Westmoreland county, while not having any well defined factions and "antis" in the Republican ranks is nevertheless shot to pieces in a political way, so far as any leadership is concerned. In the recent primaries the hottest fight hinged on commissioner, where John E. Shields, the present sheriff was a candidate. Shields has been having all sorts of trouble officially and otherwise, and has just been convicted in the county courts of misdemeanor in office. He is also charged with having collected over $60,000 in cash from the coal companies during the Irwin strike for the use of deputies, which he is alleged to have kept personally. instead of turning it over to the county.

With these charges and indictments hanging over him, Shields announced for the nomination for county commissioner, and won out by a substantial plurality. It is said that with a court sentence hanging over him he cannot accept the office, but that is a matter that will have to be determined later. W. D. Reamer, a brother of Burgess Reamer of Monessen is the other successful Republican candidate for commissioner.

Another surprice was the nomination of J. Berkey Boyd for county treasurer. Boyd was the local option member of the Legislature from Westmoreland, and as a matter of course had the opposition of the entire liquor forces, but nevertheless won out in the Republican nomination for treasurer, defeating Jesse Hancock, a banker of Monessen and other strong candidates.

MASONS TO CELEBRATE IN HONOR OF FOUNDING OF GRAND LODGE

Charleroi and Monessen Members Join in Commemorating Organization 125 Years Ago of State Lodge

1ST ANNIVERSARY OBSERVANCE IN PHILADELPHIA

Under the auspices of Charleroi Lodge, No. 615 and Monessen Lodge No. 638, Free and Accepted Masons of Pennsylvania, a celebration will be held Thursday evening in the local Masonic rooms of the 125th anniversary of the grand lodge of Pennsylvania. On September 25, the grand lodge held a celebration at Philadelphia and Thomas R. Eagye was the representative of the Charleroi Lodge.

Committees from the Charleroi and Monessen lodges have prepared a program, which will precede a social session. Two addresses will be made one by William M. Hamilton, D. D. G. M. of Pittsburg, and one by George W. Montgomery of Verona Lodge, No. 548. The Masonic quartet composed of James K. Boyd, Eli H. Wolf, Calvin W. Shuck, and George R. Helmbold, will render musical selections.

The reception committee consists of T. L. Daly, John H. Bowers, T. R. Eagye, A. N. Jenkins, Frank H. Steen, Frank J. John, Cary Piper, John F. Laird, John D. Berryman, Will M. Gault, Frank Bly, Charles H. Steel and Frank Arrison. Charles S. McKean, Worshipful Master of the Charleroi lodge will have general charge of the program.

WILL SEEK TO HAVE 100 MEN IN PARADE

Charleroi Society Makes Preparations for Monster Demonstration to be Held in Pittsburg Next Monday

An effort is being made to have 100 men go from Charleroi to Pittsburg on Sunday to participate in the big parade to be held by the Holy Name Society, and a meeting will be held at St. Jerome's church Sunday evening at 7:30 o'clock to rally the forces. The parade will be one of the biggest events in churchdom among the Catholics of the Pittsburg diocese during the year. It will precede the benediction of the Blessed Sacrament at the cathedral at Fifth avenue and Craig street by Bishop Canevin.

Affiliated with St. Jerome's Catholic church is a Holy Name society but the membership is not 100. It is hoped however that by Sunday there will be 100 men ready to go to take part in the parade.

It is expected that fully 50,000 men will take part in the parade at Pittsburg. The line will form at the Point and move at about 3 o'clock in the afternoon. Marching to the cathedral the devout procession will hear the benediction of the Blessed Sacrament. The service will be impressive and the different choirs together with the entire congregation will sing at the time of the benediction, "Come Our Holy God."

MONESSEN CHURCH TO BURN MORTAGE AND CELEBRATE

Under the auspices of the Men's Bible class, an entertainment will be held at the First Presbyterian church at Monessen Friday night, when the mortgage covering the indebtedness of the church will be burned, the debt having been liquidated. A spelling bee between the men and the women of the congregation will be one of the forms of entertainment.

Class Received.

At a special service at St. Jerome's Catholic church Sunday afternoon at 3 a'clock a class of 125 young people were received into the Sodality of the Blessed Virgin. Rev. Patrick E. Maher, pastor at Roscoe, preached the sermon and had charge of the services.

CROW FACTION SHOWS UP COOPER FOLLOWERS

Lewis Will Run Again

Ex President of Mine Workers to Oppose President J hn P. White

A newspaper dispatch from Bridgeport, Ohio, states that T. L. Lewis, who was last year defeated for reelection as president of the United Mine Workers of America by J. P. White of Iowa, will be a candidate against White in the coming election of national officers.

Official notice to that effect is given in a letter containing the signature of Lewis, which has been sent to all the local unions on the stationery of Wheeling Creek Local, of which Lewis has been a member for 22 years.

NEW ROOM AND NEW TEACHER

High School Now Getting Its First Real Start of Term

ENROLLMENT IS LARGE

With a new room and an average number of about 32 pupils to each of the four rooms now used, High School for the first time since the beginning of the present school term is moving along well. On Monday a new room was added to the three already used and about a fourth of the entire enrollment transferred to it.

High School got its second wind and now there is smooth sailing ahead apparently with plenty of opportunity for good work to be done.

Crowded and congested until it was almost necessary to have recourse to soap boxes as seats High School has been worrying along and doing excellent work thus far this term. The daily attendance averages 125, which is above that of any previous year by about 45 or 50. Recently the school board elected a new teacher in the person of Miss Lois Haler and she has charge of the new room, which was formerly known as No. 10 in the Fifth street building. Miss Haler is from McKeesport and is a graduate of the Houcher College at Baltimore.

The High School teaching force now presents the following array: Principal, Prof W. A. Swick, Allegheny College; teachers, Miss Mary Walters, Allegheny College; Paul T. Landis, University of Michigan and Miss Haler of Goucher College.

Misses Esther and Zolo Moss were visitors over Sunday with Miss HiLa Cupp of McKean avenue.

Much Significance to Political Scrap in Fayette County

COOPER WANTS OLD JOB

Would Like to Again be Congressman—Just One Break in the Crow Slate

Like Washington, Fayette county engaged in a factional fight in the Republican ranks for the control of the nominations for county offices. The respective leaders under whose banners the contending forces rallied were former Congressman Cooper and State Senator Crow, each side of which had a full slate of candidates for the nominatons. The result was an utter route for the Cooper forces, the Crow slate of candidates winning, with the exception of Richard Davis, clerk of courts, who won out on his personal popularity.

The successful Republican candidates are: Sheriff, M. A. Kiefer; protonotary, Wm. McClelland; district attorney, S. Ray Shelby; register of wills, C. O. Schroyer; recorder of deeds, Geo. C. Steele; county controller, Harry Kissinger; clerk of courts, Rchard Davis; county commissioners, J. S. Langley and C. H. Nutt; county coroner, Harry J. Bell; poor directors, W. P. Jackson and J. J. Barnhart.

The result of this election is thought to be a death blow to former Congressman Cooper's ambition to return to Congress. At the expiration of his last term in Congress, Mr. Cooper announced that he would not be a candidate for re-election. This action, it is said, was due more to the exigencies of the situation than from a desire to withdraw from public life. Owing to the clamor of Green and Somerset, the other counties in the district for a turn in the Congressional representation. Mr. Cooper thought it best to withdraw instead of risking a fight for the nomination that was shaping up against him, particularly at a time when the spirit of political insurgency was dominant. He was not a candidate for renomination and Col. Tom Crago of Waynesburg was chosen.

Now, it is said, Mr. Cooper would like to go to Congress again, and for that reason sought to control the Fayette county Republican organization. The Crow forces were strong for him, and there is to be a Fayette county Congressional representative in the near future, it will in all likelihood be Senator Crow, who is now the undispted leader in Fayette county Republican politics.

STRIKING CENSUS FIGURES.

The just available census figures of 1910 are most significant in the sense of showing how great has become the population of the district of which Pittsburg is the natural and industrial center. This first compilation of these figures shows that in 26 counties of Westen Pennsylvania, 17 of Eastern Ohio, 10 of West Virginia and two of Maryland, all within 100 to 150 miles of Pittsburg, the total population numbers 4,336,288, distributed in the four states as follows: Pennsylvania, 26 counties, 3,048,010; West Virginia, 10 counties, 261,607; Ohio, 17 counties, 944,255; Maryland, two counties, 82,516.

Pittsburg is one of the heaviest centers of population in the United States, ranking equal with New York, Philadelphia and Chicago. It takes an enormous amount of farm produce to feed the people who live in Pittsburg, and in the many other cities and towns of the territory—a great deal more than is raised in the region itself, where it all ought to be raised—and one of the objects of the Pittsburg Land Show is to demonstrate through a powerful two-weeks object lesson, the great profit sure to accrue to tillers of the soil in the Pittsburg district by raising enough produce to feed the more than four million inhabitants, instead of forcing them to bring so much of their foodstuff from the west. This great Land Show will be held in the Duquesne Garden from October 12th to 28th, and whether viewed merely as a spectacle or as an instructive exhibition it will be well worth the time and money of anyone living within 50 miles of the city.

CO-OPERATION.

A newspaper dispatch states that co-operative clubs having for their object the buying of vegetables and provisions in carload lots at rock-bottom prices, from the producers, are being formed in various parts of Allegheny county. The idea is to buy potatoes and other products direct from the farmer, thus saving the family man from paying the profits which go to three or four persons before he finally gets his fruit and vegetables.

In such suburbs as Belleville, Carnegie, Beechview, Avalon and elsewhere neighborhood clubs are being organized for the purpose of buying potatoes at a big saving in cost. For instance, it was learned that potatoes by the carload were being delivered in Pittsburg recently from the shipper at the rate of 75 to 80 cents a bushel, feight prepaid.

The jobber and wholesaler are charging the retail dealers from 90 cents to $1 a bushel, while the retailer, to get his profit, must charge from $1.20 to $1.25 a bushel; and if he sells in small quantities, from 30 to 40 cents a peck, thereby exacting from $1.20 to $1.60 a bushel according to the quality.

Another big saving is to buy food stuffs in bulk and not in packages. The latter are invariably short in weight, and the consumer has not only to pay for the material in the package, but also for the cost of making, packing and a profit on all the labor and material. The woman who bakes her own bread saves the baker's wages, together with the rent, interest on investment, and overhead charges of the proprietor of the bakery.

PICKED UP IN PASSING

"The only time I ever saw Admiral Schley," said a valley newspaper man, when the sudden death of the great sea fighter was under discussion, "was shortly after the Spanish-American war. I was doing newspaper work then in Pittsburg on the Post, and word came that Admiral Schley was to pass through the city on the B. & O. railroad, enroute from Washington to Chicago. I was detailed by the Post to 'cover' the story and went up to McKeesport where the train was to make a brief stop, and returned on it to Pittsburg.

"As McKeesport had furnished from the Firth-Sterling works the projectiles with which Schley had smashed the Spanish fleet, that city thought they had a special tribute to pay to the great Admiral. So when the train drew into the station there was an immense throng and a brass band playing, 'See, the Conquering Hero Comes.' Admiral Schley, of course made his appearance on the platform of the Pullman car, and expressed his appreciation of the compliment paid him in a few well chosen words. A funny incident in connection with the brief reception was that as soon as the train stopped and the Admiral stepped out onto the platform, a man hopped up the steps of the car from the crowd, and clinging to the railing, extended his arm saying:

"'Have a toby, Admiral!'

"Thanks,' said the Admiral, and taking the 'smoke' he looked it over with the air of a connoisseur, and then carefully placed it in his upper vest pocket where some more 'smokes' reposed, proceeded to make his little talk.

"What struck me was that the great naval hero apparently appreciated a common every day 'smoke' as much as the one who had presented it.

Rev. Axmacher, assistant to Rev. W. D. Fries, pastor of St. Jerome's Catholic church, tells a funny story in connection with the celebration held at Pittsburg last year by the Holy Name society. A feature of the celebration was a monster parade. A non-Catholic watched the immense assemblage of men as they marched past a certain point, then turning to an Irish policeman, a Catholic, asked:

"Welch, where did all those Catholic men come from?"

"Come from? For the love of Moike; them's just the ones that don't swear. Ye ought to see the other [illegible]!"

USEFUL ABOUT THE HOUSE

Ammonia Cleans Clothing and Paint and Is Good for Numerous Other Purposes.

In housekeeping ammonia has many uses. It is an efficient help about the wardrobe. Black material, sponged with a cupful of water in which a teaspoonful of ammonia has been mixed, will renew its freshness, while black silk will lose its objectionable shininess by such a sponging. A little ammonia will remove grease from collars, and when rubbed over corsets will cleanse them to a nicety. When mixed with equal parts of turpentine, ammonia will remove paint stains from cloth. If the paint is stubborn it may require several applications before the work is done. Persevere. Nothing is so good for boys' tweed suits as to sponge them with the ammonia mixture. For toilet use, a small quantity will soften the water in which the hair is washed and aid in cleansing the scalp. It renders the bath delightful, and carpets, when thoroughly gone over with ammonia and water, are surprisingly restored to something like their original freshness. When mixed with white wax and turpentine it makes the best of polishes for the floor. To relieve the pain and prevent inflammation resulting from the bites and stings of summer insects ammonia ranks first as a cure.

STEEL SPECKS IN THE FLOUR

Man of Science Announces Gravely That This Is One of the Causes of Appendicitis.

Dr. Edred M. Conner of London, alleges that appendicitis is due to white flour. Steel from the mill rollers gets into the flour. We eat this minute steel and as it goes round the bend it shunts off on the blind siding. In time it stacks up like a culm heap and irritation ensues.

A good part of the steel is absorbed, to be sure. That explains why it is not found in any of the cases operated on. But the point is, no doubt, that more than the 10-penny nail of iron allowed to each mortal is taken in and the body's magnetic equilibrium is thereby upset. The man who invented graham bread died of indigestion, but if he had drawn a magnet through it before baking he would have removed the steel particles and might have lived forever.

The wise cook today will buy a small magnet and thoroughly stir her flour with it before putting in the water and yeast. Let her wipe off the magnet every little while. The black specks that adhere are tiny bits of steel. Bread made in this way may be eaten without fear of appendicitis.

A Musical Prodigy.

In 1841 arrived in London a Russian boy, called Antoine Rubinstein not twelve years old, whose performances on the piano had excited wonder and delight among the musical amateurs. He was equally skilled in the ancient as well as modern style of playing and gave with wonderful effect the most difficult passages of Bach or Thalburg. All this, too, was done with the utmost apparent ease, and in the most difficult passages he frequently indulged himself in grotesque imitations of the peculiar trickeries of the composer upon whose music he was engaged.—The Russian Boy.

Had Laugh on the Dog.

An Irishman went into a butcher shop and bought a pound of soup meat. He then asked the butcher to write out a recipe, explaining how to cook it and the butcher did so. As the Irishman was leaving the butcher shop with the meat in his hand a big black dog strolled up behind him and stole it. The Irishman shouted at the dog: "That's the time I fooled you. Ye haven't got the recipe to cook it!"

Oldest Dwelling.

Archaeologists at a recent conference decided that the oldest dwelling inhabited today is a mansion belonging to Count Matuschke at Winkel-on-the-Rhine, Germany, which was built in 700.

County Solicitor States Why Fine Should Not be Returned

CASE AGAINST DRUGGIST

Isaac W. Baum, Esq., county solicitor, has filed a demurrer in court in the case of E. G. Dudley against Washington county. Dudley has entered suit to recover a fine paid by him to the county on a charge of selling liquor without a license.

Solicitor Baum says that the statement filed in the above case is not sufficient in law to maintain the plaintiff's action. That his pardon was not intended to absolve Dudley from the payement of the fine and costs imposed on him by the court, and that the pardon did not have the effect of discharging the defendant from the payment of the fine and that the pardon was granted after the fine was paid into the county treasury.

Attorneys are watching the outcome of this case with interest and a number of them think that the county will have to return Dudley's fine, but that he will not be able to collect whatever costs were placed on him. They claim that the pardon of the governor wipes out the fine, but holds the costs. It is said to be the first case of the kind in this county.

SUFFERERS AIDED BY THE STATE

State authorities are continuing energetic steps for the relief of the suffering people and the cleaning up operations at Austin. Three more engineers were sent from the State Department of Health and Highway Commissioner E. M. Bigelow dispatched Chief Engineer Samuel D. Foster to assist in what operations may be needed. More than 400 mattresses together with large supplies of bedding will be sent from Harrisburg by the Department of Health.

Governor Tener announces that the State will insist upon a rigid investigation of the disaster, and that if criminal negligence is shown, those responsible will be prosecuted to the full extent of the law. The Governor started for Austin Tuesday to make a personal inspection of the scene of the disaster.

Will Give Reception.

The Altar Guild of St. Mary's Episcopal church is planning to hold an open meeting and reception on Tuesday evening at the church. There will be social diversions and music. The affair is to be given in honor of four brides.

WHAT THE GUEST SHOULD BE

Cheerful, Adaptable Man or Woman Will Leave Happy Memory Behind on Leaving.

With the advent of summer comes the beginning of the period when the distinction and the pleasure of being a guest comes to a great many men and women. With the ready assimilation of the American people we have taken that exotic phrase, the week-end, to our common usage. And whether we are invited to go sailing in a hundred-dollar catboat, roughing it literally in a shanty called a bungalow, or enjoying the luxuries of a rich friend's country estate, we are all week-ending with the same catholicity of spirit that we show in the national habit of carrying suit cases. Hospitality has two faces—those of the host and the guest. And the most difficult one to present with an attractive mien is that of the latter estate. Cheerfulness is the most desirable characteristic of the ideal guest and second to this comes a readiness of spirit to enter any plan for the day or the night's pleasure. The adaptable man or woman is the one dearest to a host's heart; and you may pluck the reward of your entertainer's gratitude by your readiness to wash dishes as by your tolerance of a dub player at tennis or bridge in more luxurious surroundings. We all of us pay our way through the world through other mediums than that of the currency of the realm. None does this more certainly than the guest who leaves a happy memory behind him.—Philadelphia Press.

COURSE ONE OF BEST FURNISHED BY ANY BOROUGH

Members of the executive committee and several guarantors of the Citizen's Entertainment Course have begun the work of selling tickets for the course this year and are meeting with fair success. Inasmuch as the course is the highest class engaged for Charleroi and one of the best furnished by any entertainment bureau, it is expected that the tickets will go rapidly. The members of the course committee congratulate themselves upon securing such an array of talent for this year. The entertainments are of the kind that one has to go far usually to see and hear. Reservation of seats will begin Friday evening, October 13, at 7:30 o'clock at Piper's Pharmacy. The first entertainment will follow a week or so later.

HE WAS A DANGEROUS RISK

In These Rushing Days the Pedestrian Has No Show at All With Insurance Company.

Here was a case where it seemed as if everything was settled. The insurance company's doctor had reported that the man seemed to be all right, and the man himself had certified that he was not engaged in any dangerous occupation.

"I lead a sedentary life," he told them. "I work in an office and we have no danger or excitement."

"How about sports?" the examiner asked. "Do you football? Baseball? Do you box? Do you belong to an athletic club?"

"No—none of that stuff. I guess I'm a safe risk."

"Do you scorch?"

"What do you mean?"

"Do you drive your car faster than the speed limit?"

"I have no car."

"What? How do you get about?"

"I walk."

"Risk refused. A scorcher is a dangerous risk, but a pedestrian has no chance at all. Buy a car, old chap. Sorry—good night!"

The Brighter Side.

It was a beautiful barometer. It glistened from its splendid wooden case with a spick-and-spanness that boasted of its newness. Its rich framework clearly advertised the large price that had been paid for it. Its owner was justly proud.

But it possessed one drawback—it wouldn't work. Ever since it had been purchased it had remained at "Set Fair" whatever the weather had happened to be. And the weather had happened to be particularly wet.

At last its owner grew weary of its external beauty, and exasperated over its internal stupidity. One day, when the rain was pouring extra hard, he tore the weather indicator from the wall, and took it out into the road.

"Now, then," he cried, shaking it angrily, "can't you see it's raining?"

For a moment the needle hesitated. Then, as the raindrops began to dim the glass, it made up its mind and moved slowly round to "Very Dry."

Bismarck and Coffee.

Among the coffee drinkers a high place must be given to Bismarck, says the London Chronicle. He liked coffee unadulterated. While with the Prussian army in France he one day entered a country inn and asked the host if he had any chiccory in the house. He had. Bismarck said: "Well, bring it to me, all you have." The man obeyed and handed Bismarck a canister full of chiccory. "Are you sure this is all you have demanded the chancellor. "Yes, my lord, every grain." "Then," said Bismarck, keeping the canister by him, "go now and make me a pot of coffee."

Protection of Records.

In every city of magnitude there are all kinds of valuable records exposed to destruction by fire. The most practical people in the world are strangely remiss in this matter of protection of records that cannot be duplicated or replaced when once lost.—Buffalo News.

How We Live.

The only right is that which allows man's individuality to expand, and the only wrong is that which contracts it—we live in the measure that we voice ourselves, and we but linger when self-expression atrophies and dies.

Still the Open Kettle.

One very seldom sees a washing machine in use in the south, says Frank P. Fogg in the National Magazine. The old-fashioned way of washing in the open air at the side of a brook or at the well and boiling the clothes in an iron kettle over a smoking open fire is still in vogue.

Proposed amendments to the Constitution submitted to the citizens of this Commonwealth for their approval or rejection, by the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, and published by order of the Secretary of the Commonwealth, in pursuance of Article XVIII of the Constitution.

Number One.

A JOINT RESOLUTION

Proposing an amendment to the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, so as to consolidate the courts of common pleas of Allegheny County.

Section 1. Be it resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met, That the following amendment to the Constitution of Pennsylvania be, and the same is hereby, proposed, in accordance with the eighteenth article thereof:—

That section six of article five be amended, by striking out the said section, and inserting in place thereof the following:

Section 6. In the county of Philadelphia all the jurisdiction and powers now vested in the district courts and courts of common pleas, subject to such changes as may be made by this Constitution or by law, shall be in Philadelphia vested in five distinct and separate courts of equal and co-ordinate jurisdiction, composed of three judges each. The said courts in Philadelphia shall be designated respectively as the court of common pleas number one, number two, number three, number four, and number five, but the number of said courts may be by law increased, from time to time, and shall be in like manner designated by successive numbers. The number of judges in any of said courts, or in any county where the establishment of an additional court may be authorized by law, may be increased, from time to time, and whenever such increase shall amount in the whole to three, such three judges shall compose a distinct and separate court as aforesaid, which shall be numbered as aforesaid. In Philadelphia all suits shall be instituted in the said courts of common pleas without designating the number of the said court, and the several courts shall distribute and apportion the business among them in such manner as shall be provided by rules of court, and each court, to which any suit shall be thus assigned, shall have exclusive jurisdiction thereof, subject to change of venue, as shall be provided by law.

In the county of Allegheny all the jurisdiction and powers now vested in the several numbered courts of common pleas shall be vested in one court of common pleas composed of all the judges in commission in said courts. Such jurisdiction and powers shall extend to all proceedings at law and in equity which shall have been instituted in the several numbered courts, and shall be subject to such changes as may be made by law, and subject to change of venue as provided by law. The president judge of said court shall be selected as provided by law. The number of judges in said court may be by law increased from time to time. This amendment shall take effect on the first day of January succeeding its adoption.

A JOINT RESOLUTION

Proposing an amendment to section eight, article nine, of the Constitution of Pennsylvania.

Section 1. Be it resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met, That the following is proposed as an amendment to the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, in accordance with the provisions of the eighteenth article thereof:—

Amendment to Article Nine, Section Eight.

Section 2. Amend section eight, article nine, of the Constitution of Pennsylvania, which reads as follows:—

"Section 8. The debt of any county, city, borough, township, school district, or other municipality or incorporated district, except as herein provided, shall never exceed seven per centum upon the assessed value of the taxable property therein, nor shall any such municipality or district incur any new debt, or increase its indebtedness to an amount exceeding two per centum upon such assessed valuation of property, without the assent of the electors thereof at a public election in such manner as shall be provided by law; but any city, the debt of which now exceeds seven per centum of such assessed valuation, may be authorized by law to increase the same three per centum, in the aggregate, at any one time, upon such valuation, so as to read as follows:—

Section 8. The debt of any county, city, borough, township, school district, or other municipality or incorporated district, except as herein provided, shall never exceed seven per centum upon the assessed value of the taxable property therein, nor shall any such municipality or district incur any new debt, or increase its indebtedness to an amount exceeding two per centum upon such assessed valuation of property, without the assent of the electors thereof at a public election in such manner as shall be provided by law; but any city, the debt of which now exceeds seven per centum of such assessed valuation, may be authorized by law to increase the same three per centum, in the aggregate, at any one time, upon such valuation, except that any debt or debts hereinafter incurred by the city and county of Philadelphia for the construction and development of subways for transit purposes, or for the construction of wharves and docks, or the reclamation of land to be used in the construction of a system of wharves and docks, as public improvements, owned or to be owned by said city and county of Philadelphia, and which shall yield to the city and county of Philadelphia certain net revenue in excess of the interest on said debt or debts and of the annual installments necessary for the cancellation of said debt or debts, may be excluded in ascertaining the power of the city and county of Philadelphia to become otherwise indebted: Provided, That sinking fund for their cancellation shall be established and maintained.

WOMEN NOMINATED ON THE KEYSTONE TICKET

Washington Voters Will Have Opportunity of Voting for Representation of the Weaker Sex

Washington voters have an opportunity to elect two women school directors at the November election. These are Mrs. Anna Murphy and Mrs. Minnie Borchers, whose names will appear on the Keystone ticket. Mrs. Murphy is a candidate for the six year term, while Mrs. Borchers seeks the four year term. Both women were candidates on the Republican and Democratic tickets as well as the Keystone, but failed to win the nomination except on the latter ticket. Their combined vote on all three tickets would be almost enough to nominate them if they receive the same support at the November election. Mrs. Borchers received 433 Republican votes, 113 Democratic and 193 Keystone votes, making a total of 739. Mrs. Murphy's vote was: Republican 327, Democratic 84 and Keystone 154, making a total of 565.

R. W. Mason, one of the successful Republican candidates for the six year term, led the ticket with 653 votes, while Plummer Baker, Esq., was high man on the Republican ticket for the four term with 846 votes. The two women have an even chance to win if they can but hold the vote each received at the primary.

SAVED FOR FURTHER SERVICE

Good Old Teapot, Precious Relic, Could Not Be Allowed to Become Prey of Flames.

The hotel is in flames. Sadly the guests and servants gaze at the roaring pyre. Suddenly they see the proprietor dash madly in at the blazing doorway.

"He has gone to rescue someone!" they gasp.

Tensely they wait his reappearance. One minute. Two minutes. Three.

Has he perished in that crackling furnace?

No! No! See, there he comes, singed and scorched, but safe.

What is that he carries so carefully in his arms? It is the hotel teapot, half-full of nice black tea.

Cheers rewarded the proprietor for his noble act of sentiment.

For twelve years the teapot has stood on the back of the kitchen range, boiling faithfully away. For twelve years it has poured out its life-blood in response to the calls of the transient world for drink, and the tea leaves in its dark old depths will do for many years to come.—Newark News.

The Perpetual Change.

The things of the world are ever rising and falling, and in perpetual change; and this change must be according to the will of God, as he has bestowed upon man neither the wisdom nor the power to enable him to check it. The great lesson in these things is that man must strengthen himself doubly at such times to fulfil his duty, and to do what is right, and must seek his happiness and inward peace from objects which cannot be taken away from him.—Wilhelm von Humboldt.

Wanted the Day to Himself.

Nothing makes us quite so weary as these elaborate, gotten-up-ahead-of-time jokes that some people stage and spring with such a dramatic effect. Our Washington correspondent told us of one of these, the other day. A man went into the patent office, last week, and said he wanted a copyright. They steered him to the right department, and he opened up like this:

"This is Saturday, is it not? Thank you. I understand that you will not issue a copyright on Sunday?"

"No, sir. That is the rule."

"But you will issue a copyright on any other day of the week?"

"Yes, sir."

"I'm so glad. I want to get Friday copyrighted. It's my birthday, and I don't want any other fellows using it. How much will it cost?"

Too Much Ceremony.

A Cincinnati drummer happened to be put at a table at Columbus with a number of legislators, and the courtly way in which they addressed each other greatly bored the commercial traveler. It was: "Will the gentleman from Hardin do this?" and "the gentleman from Franklin do that?" They invariably spoke to each other as the gentleman from whatever county they happened to hail from.

For 10 or 15 minutes the drummer bore it in silence.

Then he suddenly crushed the statesmen by singing out in stentorian tones to the waiter: "Will the gentleman from Ethiopia please pass the butter!"

That ended the "gentleman from" business.—Rehoboth Sunday Herald.

The Five Great Races.

In answer to the question, "What are the five great races of mankind?" a Chinese student replied, said Bishop Montgomery at the anniversary of the Society for the Propagation of the Gospel, reports the London Mail, "the hundred yards, the hurdles, the quarter mile, the mile and the three miles." In another paper a Chinese student said that "Out of sight, out of mind," could be explained in two words, "Invisible, insane."

Blessing English Crops.

The quaint ceremony of blessing the crops was observed the other evening on the Earl of Craven's estate at Binley, in Northeast Warwickshire, says the London Daily Mail. Meeting at the parish church, the vicar and a number of parishioners formed into procession and various well-known farms were visited.

RED HAIR WAS NEW TO THEM

Indians for a Long Time Insisted That White Man's Scalp Must Have Been Painted.

Forty years ago the Indians in Colorado knew but little of the white man, and nothing hardly of his ways or habits except from tradition. Among the people who went to settle in Colorado at that time was a man with very red hair. He and his party were thrown among the Indians, who thought at first that his hair was painted, just as they painted their own bodies and faces.

An old chief came up to him one day and looked at his hair very carefully.

"Ugh!" said he.

And then, turning to the interpreter who had the party in charge, he wanted him to ask the man where he got the kind of paint that would color, and yet not be greasy or look dabby. He was told that the man's hair was not painted, but he would not believe it. He once more walked up to the man and scrutinized his locks, running his hand through them and looking at his fingers.

The red-haired man became a little nervous, and half fancied that the chief was calculating how nice a red scalp would look hung to his belt. The interpreter, however, laughingly told the man what the chief had said.

Two or three more of the Indians then gathered around the party, and they and the interpreter had a powwow. Finally the interpreter asked the man if he would object to putting water on his hair.

He saw the Indians would not believe but that it was painted, until they saw that the water would not wash the color out. The man took some water, rubbed it on his hair, and then showed his hands to them. But it took four or five days of wondering examination to convince them that he had not found some peculiar paint, and got himself up in a bright red suit of hair.

Wasted Effort.

"I want you to subscribe something to the fund we are raising for the purpose of giving Senator Bunk a grand reception when he comes from Washington. How much shall we put you down for?"

"Nothing!"

"Nothing? Why, you must admit that Senator Bunk has made a great record in congress. He has succeeded in making himself one of the leaders of the most dignified deliberative body on earth."

"Yes, but he's got all the offices at his disposal filled, so what's the use?"—Chicago Record-Herald.

Develop Individuality.

Care should be taken in the large family that each child develops an individuality, says the London Sketch. Sometimes, especially in the case of girls, it is a good idea to send children to different schools. This seems an extreme measure, but is worth the consideration of the parents who find that their brood are dropping into slovenly habits of speech, into codes and rules of their own, and a general contempt and disregard of the rest of the world.

Easily Ahead.

An Irishman who was fond of the liquor came home one night all in, the St. Louis Post-Dispatch says. Four or five of his friends carried him out to a graveyard, dug a hole and put him down there to sleep off his jag. When he woke in the morning he climbed out of the hole and looked all around the cemetery. "By gorra," he said, "I'm the first one up, anyway."

Persistent Rooks.

Rooks have built a nest on a telephone pole in a busy thoroughfare in the center of Dover. As soon as the nest assumed any dimensions it fell, or was blown from the pole, and then the birds attached it to the insulators. Telephone employes knocked the nest down but, undaunted, the birds set to work and have built again.

Got by Him.

She signed herself "Your affectionate knob." He didn't catch on till she told him a knob was something to a door.

HAD NEVER BEEN TEMPTED

Delegation of Citizens Looking for County Treasurer Decided Candidate Was Too Honest.

Upon a certain occasion an eminent citizen was approached by a delegation of other eminent citizens, the leader of whom proceeded to say:

"Friend, it must be known to thee that we have had dishonest men in office and the taxpayers have suffered loss thereby?"

"Truly, the facts have come to my ears," was the reply.

"We would further state that we are a delegation looking for a new man to fill the position of county treasurer."

"And in me you will find an honest one."

"That is to say, thee will not graft?"

"Not the value of a cent."

"There will be much cash to handle."

"But it will be safe with me."

"And there will be constant temptations."

"But I shall withstand them all."

"Hast ever handled public funds?"

"No, but I again assure thee of my honesty."

"Friend," continued the speaker for the delegation, "thou art honest because thou hast never been tempted. We are now losing about ten per cent by graft. Let the office be given to an honest man and he'll either take all or none, and the chances are about even up. We will pass on!"

Moral—The honest man of today is the rascal of tomorrow.

NOT A SUBJECT FOR PITY

Little Boss of the School Made Careful Inquiry and Then Acted Promptly.

A suburban youngster who has long been the boss of his neighborhood has been attending, temporarily, a school connected with an orphanage. Very nearly all the pupils are dependents.

The school has a dozen bright red chairs which are greatly fancied by the boys, and there is either a general scramble for them or else the boys who live in the asylum are in them first.

This particular outsider was not to be denied when all the chairs were filled, and with his superior strength and courage would dump one of the occupants before the teacher arrived. Her attention was called to this and the small bully was told that he should have a feeling of pity for the unfortunate.

The next day he found all the chairs filled, one by a new pupil. He went to him and said:

"Have you a home?"

"Yes."

"A good home?"

"Yes."

"Father and mother?"

"Yes."

"Have you always had a father and mother?"

"Yes."

"Well, get out of my chair," and the intruder was hurled against the wall.—Chicago Evening Post.

Physical Limitations.

There was a very stupid play presented early in the New York season, an "adaptation" it was called by the author. Even the best-natured critics went away in disgust. One newspaper representative turned to another and said: "If this jumble had been presented on the other side of the water it would have been hissed. As there were a lot of foreign visitors present I wonder that it was not."

"It really is a wonder," was the other's reply. "I would like to have hissed myself, but—you can't yawn and hiss at the same time."—Metropolitan Magazine.

A Moving Land.

One of the broad slopes of Mont Gringuez, France, is reported to have become detached from its foundations, and to have moved over a distance of nearly a quarter of a mile, carrying with it the soil, meadows and woods, and covering up in its passage roads and bridges that stood in the way. A chestnut grove has traveled 500 feet without suffering any apparent damage, but many small lakes have been formed by the damming of the waters.—Scientific American.

Easing a Cough.

For children who have passed the baby stage, linseed tea is the best thing known to ease a cough. Pour two quarts of boiling water on one ounce of whole linseed and twelve drachms of licorice root sliced. Add to this a slice or two of lemon. Let this stand in a jug covered over for six or seven hours, then strain it and sweeten to taste and it will be ready for use.

His Prospects.

Mrs. Murphy—Oi hear yer brother-in-law, Pat Keegan, is pretty bad off. Mrs. Casey—Shure, he's good for a year yit. Mrs. Murphy—As long as that? Mrs. Casey—Yis; he's had four different doctors, and each one av him give him three months to live.—Puck.

Sweet Thing's Inference.

The poetic youth had tarried long, and conversation was waning. "I am never lonely," he observed. "My mind to me is a kingdom." "A limited monarchy?" she inquired sweetly.

Light on Habits of Snakes.

The popular theories regarding the cobra's musical ear, and the snake's power of fascinating birds, are upset by a statement made the other day by Professor Barnard who has been studying this species of snake in Ceylon. The serpent's traditional love for music is a pure fable, he says. The only effect of music is to arouse the reptile's curiosity which is excited by any loud and acute sound. The cobra protrudes its head from its burrow alike on hearing the snake charmer's flute, the rattling of a chain, or the sounds made by beating the ground with a switch. Barnard also concludes that the power of fascination upon birds is purely imaginary.

To Settle Boundary Dispute.

The century-old dispute over the boundary between Persia and Turkey in Asia from Mt. Ararat south to the Persian gulf seems to be at last in a fair way to be settled. At a conference recently held in Constantinople both governments agreed to submit the points in contest to The Hague tribunal and to abide by its decision.

Wonderful Memory.

"There seems something more speakingly incomprehensible in the powers, the failures, the inequalities of memory, than in any other of our intelligences. The memory is sometimes so retentive, so serviceable, so obedient; at others, so bewildered and so weak; and at others again, so tyrannic, so beyond control."—Jane Austen.

How to Be Good.

Tommy is an impulsive little fellow, who doesn't always find it easy to live up to the expectations of his elders. When, one day, his Sunday school teacher asked him to tell the other members of the class the way to be good, Tommy gave this explanation: "Just think of the things you wanter do and don't never do 'em!"

The Useful Toad.

Enterprising market gardeners are always in the market for live toads, and not infrequently as much as $25 per hundred is paid for this insect destroyer. It is estimated that every time a boy kills a toad he is destroying $100 worth of stock on a farm.

The Doctor's Question

Much Sickness Due to Bowel Disorders

A doctor's first question when consulted by a patient is, "Are your bowels regular?" He knows that ninety-nine per cent of illness is attended with inactive bowels and torpid liver, and that this condition must be removed gently and thoroughly before health can be restored.

Rexall Orderlies are a positive, pleasant and safe remedy for constipation and bowel disorders in general. We are so certain of their great curative value that we promise to return the purchaser's money in every case when they fail to produce entire satisfaction.

Rexall Orderlies are eaten like candy, they act quietly, and have a soothing, strengthening, healing influence on the entire intestinal tract. They do not purge, gripe, cause nausea, flatulence, excessive looseness, diarrhoea or other annoying effects. They are especially good for children, weak persons or old folks. Three sizes, 50c., 25 c and 10c. Sold only at our store—The Rexall Store. Carrolls Drug Store, 625 Fallowfield avenue.

Removes superfluous hair from any part of the body. The only safe and reliable depilatory known. Large bottle $1.00, sample 10c. Send for booklet free.

ITALIANS MANIFEST INTEREST

Would be Ready to Fight for Their Country if Needed

GREEKS ARE PREPARED

Italians here are much interested in the progress of the Italian-Turkish war, but they do not feel that it will be necessary for any of them to offer their services to their mother country. But if they are needed there are about 200 of military age ready to tender their services

There are practically no Turks in Charleroi but there are a lot of Greeks here and at Monessen who might be called upon to protect their country Greece is along the frontier and would be in the battle zone The probabilities that some of her property might be seized by the Turks, hence the need of protection. It is possible that the Greeks along the Monongahela valley are more interested in the European war development than either the Italians or Turks. The Italians do not think they have much to fear from Turkey, while the Turks are somewhat unconcerned. In Monessen there is a military company of Greeks, trained and captained after the manner of the Greek military companies.

MANY PLEAS OF GUILT ENTERED BY OFFENDERS

Charleroi Man, Among Others, Appears at Bar of Justice---Ten Years in Penitentiary for Jesse Bice

CHARGED WITH STEALING TWO HORSES

A number of violaters of the law saved the county some money Tuesday, when they entered pleas of guilty in criminal court. Had they insisted on a plea of not guilty they would have gone to trial, taking up the time of the court, the district attorney's office and other county officials

Ernest Hubert of Charleroi was one of the offenders. He is charged with enticing minor children for immoral purposes, and confessed his guilt. The prosecutor was James W. Beatty. Hubert was directed to pay the costs, fine of $1 and to undergo imprisonment in the workhouse for four months.

Jesse Bice, one of the young men who were recently arested charged with horse stealing was given an indeterminate sentence of from two and one-half years to ten years in the penitentiary He had been charged with larceny and horse stealing.

Floyd Ross, colored and very young was sent to Huntingdon. He was accused of participating in the crimes with Bice.

Rosa Loumia of Canonsburg selling liquor without license and furnishing liquor on Sunday two counts was sentenced on the first count to pay costs, fine $500 and serve three months in the county jail; on the second count pay costs, fine of $50, and 20 days to jail, both sentences to run concurrently.

Mrs. Loumia pleaded in extenuation that she was a widow, and that passing mill men advised her to sell them beer and charge good prices This she did, charging 25 cents a bottle. She entered the jail to serve her sentence with an infant in arms, and has three other children in the County Children's Home.

Green Johnson, colored, admitted carying a gun at the emancipation proclamation celebration at McDonald last August. He was sentenced to pay the costs, fine of $1 and to undergo imprisonment in the county jail for 60 days. Samuel Ferry, a white man, also from McDonald, was given the same sentence. he too having had a revolver on his person. He was not at the ox roast with Johnson.

Gentlemen Take Notice

The other day a man come in the store, and said "Give me another pair of them co-operative shoes, if you haven't got them don't show me anything else, I'd rather have you send for a special pair. I have tried, honest, every shoe sold this town, from the most unknown to the most bragged about but never did I have as satisfactory a pair as this co-operative I have on my feet, and I want another pair".

This is not the first or only token of appreciation of our efforts to please our customer in selling them the best made shoes at the most reasonable prices.

We carry the best made lines in ladies', Men's and children's shoes and sell them reasonable.

We study our business night and day in order to get the best to satisfy our customers with.

Be one of our satisfied customers, try the store that is known for its honest and square dealing.
